The Co-op Commitment

ELECTRIC COOPERATIVES HAVE SERVED the people of South Carolina for more than 80 years. From their beginnings as small companies formed and owned by the members they serve to their role today as leaders in economic development, community involvement and industry innovation, each of South Carolina's not-for-profit electric cooperatives has been guided by seven basic principles:

- Voluntary and open membership
- Democratic member control
- Members' equitable economic participation
- Autonomy and independence of each cooperative
- Education, training and information for the public, members and opinion leaders
- Cooperation between cooperatives
- Concern for community

The energy challenges to our state and nation over the next decade will continue to evolve. Cooperatives are dedicated to balancing the goals of affordability, reliability, environmental responsibility, and resilience to meet these challenges in a way that maximizes the benefits to the consumers and the communities we serve. Electric cooperatives serve some of the most economically prosperous and some of the most economically depressed areas of South Carolina. Ensuring that all South Carolinians have access to new energy innovations, and the opportunities they present, is our top priority.

As we embark on the ninth decade of cooperative service in this state, we are dedicated to honoring the great legacy built by those who came before us by constantly renewing our dedication to exemplifying cooperative principles, to improving the lives of those we serve and to being the most innovative force for positive development our state can offer.

Electric cooperatives are grateful to the General Assembly for remembering that our member-owners and their voters are one and the same, and we thank them for their continued support of the cooperative program. To them, we pledge to continue to not only measure our policies by what is best for our members, but also what is best for our state. If we can be of service, please contact us.

WRITTEN IN 1787, RATIFIED IN 1788, and in effect since 1789, the United States Constitution is the world's longest-surviving written charter of government. Its first three words—"We the People"—affirm that the government exists to serve its citizens. The supremacy of the people through their elected representatives is recognized in Article I, which creates a Congress consisting of a Senate and a House of Representatives. The positioning of Congress at the beginning of the Constitution reaffirms its status as the first branch of the federal government.

The Senate is composed of two senators from each state, elected by voters, for six-year terms.

Under the Constitution, each state is entitled to at least one representative.

Additional seats are apportioned on the basis of the state's population. Congress fixes the size of the House of Representatives and the procedure of apportioning the number among the states. Each state is apportioned its number of representatives by means of the Department of Commerce's decennial census. South Carolina has seven representatives elected by voters to serve two-year terms.

S.C. Senate

Senators' offices are in the Gressette Building, Columbia.

(H) Home district
(O) Columbia office

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY crafts South Carolina state laws and consists of two bodies: the South Carolina House of Representatives and the South Carolina Senate. There are 124 members of the S.C. House, who are elected every two years, and 46 members of the S.C. Senate, who are elected every four years, concurrent with the United States presidential election. The legislature convenes at the State House in Columbia from the second Tuesday in January until the second Thursday in May. The session may be extended if the House fails to pass a budget by March 31, or the BEA submits a forecast reduction, or by a vote of both bodies.

How to reach your legislators

Writing an email or letter to your legislator is the most effective way to communicate your support, concern or interest in an issue before the General Assembly. As you begin this process, consider the following tips:

- 1) Take a little extra time to educate yourself on the topic you wish to address.
- 2) When you write, identify yourself and your status as a constituent.
- 3) Be specific. Use bill numbers and state your position plainly.
- 4) Use examples that illustrate how the issue affects your local area.
- 5) Be respectful. Use appropriate greetings, such as "Dear Senator Smith" or "Dear Representative Jones."
- 6) Provide a way for your legislator to respond by including your mailing address or email address.
- 7) Even if you disagree with a lawmaker's position, end your correspondence by thanking them for their service.

Public Service Commission

The Public Service Commission (PSC) essentially functions as a court for cases involving utilities and other regulated companies. The PSC has broad jurisdiction over matters pertaining to the investor-owned electric and gas utility companies, water and wastewater companies, telecommunications companies, motor carriers of household goods, hazardous waste disposal, and taxicabs.

Utility regulation in South Carolina had its beginning with the passage of an act by the 1878 General Assembly, creating a commission for the purpose of regulating railroads operating within the state. In 1910, the General Assembly established a Public Service Commission, empowering it with the authority to “fix and establish in all cities of the State rates and charges for the supply of water, gas or electricity furnished by any person, firm or corporation to such cities, the inhabitants thereof, and to proscribe penalties.” In 2005, the PSC began operating as a restructured, quasi-judicial body, as prescribed by Act 175 of 2004. Under the new law, the PSC’s principal duty is to hear cases involving the state’s regulated utilities, while the Office of Regulatory Staff is responsible for many of the non-adjudicative functions associated with utility regulation.

A joint session of the General Assembly elects the PSC for a term of four years, with one commissioner from each of the seven congressional districts. The PSC’s staff is composed of the Administrative Staff, Advisory Staff, Docketing Staff and Legal Staff.

Office of Regulatory Staff

The Office of Regulatory Staff (ORS) represents the public interest of South Carolina in utility regulation. The agency fulfills its mission by representing the concerns of the using and consuming public with respect to public utility services and preservation of continued investment in and maintenance of utility facilities so as to provide reliable and high quality utility services.

Act 175 of 2004 created the ORS as a part of an initiative to provide a revised structure for addressing the public interest in utility regulation. This revised structure clearly separates the adjudicative function—which belongs to the Public Service Commission of South Carolina (PSC)—from the investigative, legal, prosecutorial and educational roles necessary for utility regulation. Specifically, the ORS has sole responsibility for the inspection, auditing, and examination of public utilities. The agency must be considered a party of record in all filings, applications or proceedings before the PSC.

The utilities and industries that fall under the regulatory purview of the ORS are as follows: telecommunications, investor-owned electric, natural gas, water/wastewater and transportation.

The ORS has responsibility for oversight of railroad safety and natural gas pipeline safety in South Carolina, as well as limited oversight authority over electric cooperatives and municipal systems. Further, the South Carolina Utilities Consumer Advocate, housed in Consumer Affairs, is responsible for monitoring South Carolina utilities as well as representing and providing protection for the ratepayer. The Energy Office, the principal energy-planning entity for the state, became part of the ORS in 2015.

South Carolina's Broadband Office, which is a part of the ORS, is the central broadband planning body for South Carolina and coordinates with federal, state, regional, local, and private entities to encourage the development of access to broadband. The Broadband Office also serves as a central resource to collect and publish information about state and federal programs to fund broadband expansion.

The agency is organized as follows:

- ▶ Administration
- ▶ Information Services
- ▶ Auditing
- ▶ Legal
- ▶ Broadband
- ▶ Safety, Transportation, and Emergency Response
- ▶ Consumer Affairs
- ▶ Telecommunications
- ▶ Energy Policy
- ▶ Utility Rates & Services
- ▶ Human Resources
